

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

This catalogue describes the paintings in the Gallery of Art of The New York Historical Society, with two hundred and eighty-six miniatures, comprising the Marié Collection and seventy-six objects of Sculpture.

The New York Gallery of Fine Arts, presented to the Society in 1858, with paintings donated to the Society at various times, are numbered 1 to 488 inclusive. Any notice of this collection would be deficient which should fail to commemorate the name of Luman Reed, Patron of American Art. In this connection the Society was chiefly indebted to the liberality and cordial coöperation of one of their most valued members, who was himself the chief promoter of the original design of the New York Gallery of Fine Arts, Mr. Jonathan Sturges.

The Bryan Collection, presented to the Society in 1867 by the late Thomas J. Bryan, numbers three hundred and eighty-one paintings and are designated by the letter B. before each number.

The Durr Collection, presented to the Society in 1882 by the executors of the late Louis Durr, numbers, with subsequent additions, one hundred and eighty-one paintings, which are designated by the letter D. before each number.

Short biographical sketches of deceased artists represented in the above collections have been added, together with indexes to Artists, portraits and donors.

The Marié Collection of miniatures is arranged alphabetically by subjects and is not included in the index of portraits.

LUMAN REED

Luman Reed was born in Green River, Columbia County, N. Y., in 1785, and died in 1836. He removed when a boy to Coxsackie, N. Y., where he was educated in an ordinary school at the expense of an uncle. Later he was employed in a country store and subsequently became the partner and brother-in-law of his employer.

He made frequent trips to New York City on a sloop called the "Shakespeare," belonging to the firm, selling produce of the farms around Coxsackie and purchasing goods in New York for his country store. Later he became a merchant in New York and between the years 1815 and 1832 he gained a fortune. It was then that he began to gratify other instincts and art attracted his attention. He became the patron of American Art and sought the acquaintance of artists, interesting himself in their labors, giving them many commissions for work.

Mr. Reed lived at 13 Greenwich Street, this city, the third story of which building he used as a picture gallery, to which visitors were admitted one day each week. This room was also a meeting place for the artists and literary men of the time. The paintings after Mr. Reed's death were purchased by his friends and subsequently constituted the New York Gallery of Fine Arts which, after an uncertain existence of about twelve years, was forced to close its affairs. Eighty of these paintings, presented in 1858, are now in the possession of this Society and known as the New York Gallery of Fine Arts.

The death of Mr. Reed was greatly lamented by the artists of his time and his name has come down to this generation as the Patron of American Art.

1-5.	The Course of Empire.	Thomas Cole.

A series of five pictures, illustrating a nation's rise, progress, greatness, decline, and fall, and the consequent changes in the same landscape.

NOTE.—The isolated rock, crowning a precipitous hill, in the distance, identifies the scenes in each of the series; but the observer's position varies in the several pictures.

"First freedom, and then glory, when that fails,
Wealth, vice, corruption."

(Reed Collection.)
(New York Gallery of Fine Arts.)

[FIRST OF THE SERIES.]

1. The "Savage State," or "Commencement of Empire." (61½ × 39.)

The sun is rising from the sea, over a wild scene of rocks, forests, and mountains, dissipating the clouds and darkness of night. Man, attired in skins, is seen engaged in the wild dance and the chase—the characteristic occupations of the savage life. In the picture, we have the first rudiments of society. Men have banded together for mutual aid. The useful arts have commenced in the construction of the canoe, the weapon, and the hut; and we may imagine the germs of two of the fine arts, music and poetry, in the singing usually accompanying the dance of the savage. The empire is asserted, to a limited extent, over sea, land, and the animal kingdom. It is the season of Spring—the morning of the nation's existence.

[SECOND OF THE SERIES.]

2. "The Arcadian," or "Pastoral State." (62½ × 39.)

Ages have passed; a change has been wrought in the scene—man has subjugated "the untracked and rude." We now see the shepherd and his flocks; the ploughman upturning the soil, and the wafting sail; by the shore a village, and on the hill the ascending smoke of sacrifice. In this picture we have agriculture, commerce, and religion. In the aged man describing the mathematical figure, the rude attempt of the boy in drawing; in the female figure with the distaff, the vessel on the stocks; in the primitive temple, and the dance of the peasants to the music of the pipe, we have evidence of the advance made in science, in the useful and the fine arts.

It is early Summer, and the sun has ascended midway to the meridian.

[THIRD OF THE SERIES.]

3. "The Consummation of Empire." (75×50½.)

The rude village has become a magnificent city. From the bay—now a capacious harbor, with phari at the entrance, and thronged with war-galleys, and barks with silken sails—ascend piles of architecture, temples, domes, and colonnades. The massive bridge, the streets and squares, lined with palaces and adorned with statuary, clustered columns, and sparkling fountains, are crowded with gorgeous pageants and triumphal processions. It is a day of triumph—man has conquered man—nations have been subjugated. By wealth and power, knowledge, art, and taste, man has achieved the summit of human grandeur.

The sun is near the meridian.

[FOURTH OF THE SERIES.]

4. "Destruction." (62½×38½.)

Ages have passed away since the scene of glory. Luxury has enervated, vice has debased, and the strength of the mighty nation has consumed away. A barbarous enemy sacks the city. The heavens are darkened by a tempest, and the storm of war rages beneath, amid falling walls and colonnades, and the flames of temples and palaces.

[FIFTH OF THE SERIES.]

5. "Desolation." (61×39½.)

The moon ascends the twilight sky, near where the sun rose in the first picture. The last rays of the departed sun illumine a lonely column of the once proud city, on whose capital the heron has built her nest. The shades of evening steal over shattered and ivy-grown ruins. The steep promontory, with its insulated rock, still rears against the sky, unmoved, unchanged; but violence and time have crumbled the works of man, and art is again resolving into elemental nature. The gorgeous pageant has passed; the roar of battle has ceased; the multitude has sunk in the dust; the empire is extinct.

233-246. The Incas of Peru.

A collection of fourteen paintings in oil on canvas, bearing inscriptions designating the name and succession of each monarch. They are said to be the original pictures from which the portraits of the Incas were engraved for the work of Herrera—"Historia general de los Hechos de los Castellanos," etc., published at the beginning of the 17th century (1601-15), and reproduced in the edition by Barcia in 1726-30. This series of the Incas, as given by Herrera, differs from that of Garcilasso, in the addition of Vrco (241), who is said to have reigned only eleven days, and the omission of Yupanqui, the son of Pachacutec (242).

Presented by Frederic de Peyster, April 1, 1873.

233. Manco Capac, First Inca. (21 × 23.)

234. Sinchi Roca, Second Inca. (21 × 23.)

235. Lloqui Yupanqui, Third Inca. (21 × 23.)

236. Mayta Capac, Fourth Inca. (21 × 23.)

237. Capac Yupanqui, Fifth Inca. (21 × 23.)

238. Inca Roca, Sixth Inca. (21 × 23.)

239. Yahuar Huacac, Seventh Inca. (21 × 23.)

240. Viracocha, Eighth Inca. (21 × 23.)

241. Vrco, Ninth Inca. (21 × 23.)

242. Pachacutec, Tenth Inca. (21 × 23.)

243. Tupac Yupanqui, Eleventh Inca. (21 × 23.)

244. Huayna Capac, Twelfth Inca. (21 × 23.)

245. Huascar, Thirteenth Inca. (21 × 23.)

246. Atahualpa, Fourteenth Inca, put to death by order of Pizarro, August 29, 1533.
(21½ × 23½.)

247. Portrait of William Shaler, (1778-1833.)
(22½ × 28½.)

U. S. Consul at Algiers and Havana.

Presented by Daniel P. Ingraham, April 7, 1874.

248. Portrait of Ezra L'Hommedieu, (1734-1811.)
(27½ × 32½.)

James Earle.

| 266. | Portrait of Cornelius Steenwyck, (( $24\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$ .)   | -1684.)Jan Van Goosen. |
|      | Steenwyck was prominent in the early annals of NewYork as Burgomaster, etc., under the Dutch, and Memberof the Assembly, Alderman, Member of the Council, andMayor under the English rule. This picture is supposed tohave been painted at Haarlem, Holland, 1667-1668, atwhich time Steenwyck was visiting his sister, the wife ofthe artist Van Goosen. It remained for more than acentury in the family of Colonel Anthony White, from oneof whose descendants—Miss Isabella J. Evans, of NewBrunswick, N. J.—it came into the possession of theSociety in December, 1882. |                                   |
|      | The portrait is surmounted by the arms of Steenwyck,and below it is a view of the city of New Amsterdam, froma sketch made about 1656. The head of Steenwyck, No.265 of this Catalogue, seems to have been copied from thispicture.   |                                   |

THE BRYAN COLLECTION

THOMAS J. BRYAN

Thomas Jefferson Bryan was the son of Guy Bryan and Martha Matlock, his wife. He was born at "Spring Hill," Philadelphia, Pa., about 1800, and died at sea, May 14, 1870, on board the French steamship "Lafayette," while on his way to New York, four days out from Havre, France.

Mr. Bryan graduated at Harvard University in 1823 and studied law, but he never practiced his profession, as he had an adequate inheritance.

Much of his time was given to foreign travels in forming a valuable collection of paintings. For a time this collection, known as the Bryan Gallery of Christian Art, was displayed on the walls of a spacious room in a house on the corner of Broadway and Thirteenth Street, where an admission fee of twenty-five cents was charged to view the paintings, Mr. Bryan himself being the custodian in charge. He next deposited them in the Cooper Union, and in 1867 he deeded the entire collection to the New York Historical Society, which he catalogued, arranged and added to from time to time until his death in 1870.

196. THOMAS J. BRYAN.
WILLIAM O. STONE
FOUNDER OF THE BRYAN COLLECTION.
PAINTED FOR THE SOCIETY, 1867.

Above, two angels, strangely enough colored entirely blue, sound the trumpet; below, the Virgin and St. JOHN kneel upon the ground, from which rises the cross, on which two angels are looking. On the left, the elect, wearing crowns of gold, mount towards the sky, under the protection of a pitying spirit; on the right, the damned, covered with blood, are delivered to the demons by a minister of divine vengeance. JESUS himself wears a terrible expression. MICHAEL ANGELO is, therefore, not the first to have given him this menacing aspect. The general color of the picture pleases the eye by its extreme fineness: the Virgin and St. JOHN by the beauty of their types." To this just and graphic description from the pen of M. ## ANCIENT VENETIAN SCHOOL

- B-17. Virgin adoring the Infant Jesus. (18½×11.)
The Virgin kneels before her Divine Son. Around are angels, and behind her is JOSEPH. Above is a company of angels; and, in the distant sky, one is seen appearing to the shepherds. The infant has a crimson, cruciform aureola. In this rudely-drawn picture the future glory of the Venetian School, its gorgeous color, is plainly indicated.

The Virgin MARY, St. JOHN the Baptist, St. JEROME, St. JOSEPH, St. MICHAEL, and the Pope JULIUS II., are kneeling before the divine infant. Three small Angels, also kneeling, carry the nails and the Cross, emblems of the torture which the new-born should suffer. The CHRIST bears a striking resemblance to that of the little JESUS, so much admired, in a painting of the same artist, now placed in the Louvre, after having decorated the gallery of the King of Holland. St. MICHAEL strikes the beholder by his noble air and his martial type. The head is evidently the portrait of GASTON DE FOIX, the model of the chivalry of the day. St. JOHN is the lean prophet of the desert, the ascetic, and the eater of locusts and wild honey. At the top of the picture, three Angels play upon different instruments. In the background are seen the Capitol, the image of Roman power, and the vast ruins of the Coliseum. The head of JOSEPH, who stands behind St. JOHN, must strike the considerate observer by its close resemblance to the type of JOSEPH which we find in the Holy Families of RAPHAEL. In the Cherub who holds the Cross, we also find great similarity to the little Angel who occupies so prominent a position in the famous Madonna of Foglino, from the same divine pencil. From the collection ERRARD. Signed and dated 1509.

In the centre of the upper compartment, CHRIST, draped in red, and bearing the emblematic banner of the Cross, rises from an open tomb. His hand is raised with an expression of command. On each side are two soldiers sleeping, and two starting away in fright. A slender tree also is seen upon each side of the tomb; in the distance is a large hill. In the lower compartment are eight figures, besides the infant CHRIST. Six kneel in a semicircle about the new-born Saviour, who lies in the middle of the foreground. Three of these, on the left, are shepherds. On the right are the Virgin mother and two Angels. Next to MARY sits JOSEPH; and on the extreme left, a fourth shepherd approaches. on each side of the composition. In the distance are heavily undulating hills.

Very few Raphaels of this period exist. Those which are in the Vatican and the Louvre, show, in style and handling, an exact similarity to these pictures, which is absolutely conclusive. The donor wishes it to be understood, that, in his opinion, and in that of some of the accomplished and practised experts in Europe, there is not the slightest doubt of the authenticity of these pictures. Only the inexperienced and the uncultivated fail to trace in them the pencil of the divine RAPHAEL.

EARLY FLORENTINE SCHOOL

- B-43. Virgin and Child, with St. John. (10×81.)
- It will be noticed that gold is used freely in the halos, and upon the draperies, which fall in somewhat stiff but ample and not unpleasing folds. This picture is from the collection of the Abbé GENOUDE, known as the translator of the Bible, by which he accumulated a fortune.
(Bryan Collection.)
- B-44. Adoration of the Shepherds. (35½×34.)
- This picture is from the collection of the Sylvestre family, and was once improperly attributed to RAPHAEL. It bears many of the marks of GAROFALO's pencil.
(Bryan Collection.)
- B-45. The Crucifixion. (33×23.) Andrea Mantegna.
- Mr. Michiels, the distinguished critic employed by the Belgian Government to prepare a history of Flemish Art, says of this work: "The CHRIST has a nobility in his attitude which few painters have been able to give him; the expression of the good robber is also grave and dignified. The whole picture bears the impress of a serene imagination; the coloring is sombre; the attitudes are distinguished by an air of majesty. We feel that the artist had, at the commencement of his career, severely studied the ancients. Two cuirasses, and some of the draperies, are gilded; gold is mingled with the other costumes, in the form of traits, designating the folds. We are particular about these details, because they indicate the primitive epoch in which the picture was painted, and the manner in which they passed from the use of gold grounds to the entire abandonment of that metal."
- It should be observed that the Jewish type is preserved in the heads of many of the figures, which is the case of the works of very few other masters. It will be observed that there are in this crowded canvas no two pieces of offensive or defensive armor alike. This is worthy of particular remark, as SQUARCIONI, the master of MAN-

TEGNA, had the largest and most varied collection of ancient arms which existed in his day.

Aside from its intrinsic merit, this picture is of the greatest interest when considered in connection with the St. Jerome (B-47) by CORREGGIO, the disciple of MANTEGNA. In the peculiar mode of introducing gold in the lights of that noble painting, we notice an unmistakable similarity to MANTEGNA's use of the same material in the work before us; thus showing the direct connection between the manner of the two painters.

It is impossible to overrate the historical importance of the juxtaposition of this work of MANTEGNA with that of CORREGGIO. There is afforded in no other gallery, public or private, in the world, a similar opportunity to study the master and scholar side by side in works of unquestionable authenticity and the highest intrinsic merit.

B-47. The Virgin and Child, Mary Magdalen, and St. Jerome (known as the St. Jerome).

(19×14.)

Of this sketch M. Michiels remarks, that in it "burns in all its grace the talent of CORREGGIO. Never has the ecstasy of piety, or the fervor of religious affection, been better expressed."

This picture differs from the large one at Parma, in the absence of the emblematic lion which stands in that by the side of St. JEROME; and also in the color of some of the draperies, particularly in that of the canopy, which in this is striped, while in that it is of one color. In this, too, we find gold used in the halos and in the draperies, which is not the case in the other; a fact which points to the earlier production of this picture, and which also connects it in a remarkable manner with the CRUCIFIXION by MANTEGNA (No. B-45).

There can be no doubt that this picture is the finished sketch for the well-known St. Jerome, at Parma. The marked differences already alluded to in minor points, prove incontestably that it could not be the work of a copyist, who would, of course, reproduce his original with all possible fidelity. It is from the collection of Marshal Sebastiani, it having been nailed firmly to the wall in his bed-chamber.

"Three angels bear aloft the interpreter of the divine will: one has the form of infancy, another of youth, the third of adolescence. The minister of our Lord raises his hands to heaven, on which he gazes with an expression of burning hope. How he seeks to discover the first rays of the eternal light! How he longs for the moment in which he shall appear before the Almighty! What enthusiasm animates his countenance! I doubt if the ardor of faith could be better shown. The little angel has those brilliant eyes, and that expressive visage, which this master knew so well how to paint; it is certainly not inferior to those which we admire in the grand salon of the Louvre. The angel of the second age charms the eye by a grace and an easiness of attitude extremely remarkable; upon his countenance burn the veneration and the love with which the Apostle inspires him. - B-112. Portrait of a Lady. ( $42\frac{1}{2} \times 35\frac{1}{2}$ .) Anthony van Dyck.

This picture belonged to General D'Espinoy's large and famous collection of portraits. It was covered with the dust of time; and the Cupid, which the donor found in perfect preservation, had been painted out by some sacrilegious hand.

(Bryan Collection.)

- B-113. Portrait of Charles I. ( $30\frac{1}{2} \times 39$ .) Anthony van Dyck.

The monarch is represented on the same canvas in front, profile, and three-quarter view. The object in presenting such a picture was, as the reader will remember, to enable the Italian sculptor, BERNINI, who had not seen Charles, to model a bust.

(Bryan Collection.)

- B-115. The Continnence of Scipio. ( $52 \times 67$ .)

Gerbrandt van den Eeckhout.

This is the most celebrated of the Master's compositions, and is cited by Descamps as his chef d'œuvre. His pictures having been frequently changed into REMBRANDTS by picture-dealers, this specimen is the finest and purest which the donor has met with.

(Bryan Collection.)

- B-116. The Crucifixion. ( $15 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$ .)

The cross upon which the dead CHRIST is suspended occupies the middle of the composition. On the left, St. JOHN sustains the fainting Virgin, behind whom kneels the churchman for whom the picture was painted. His name, Fr(ater) Aurelius de Emael, is written in German-text across his figure. Behind him is a weeping female figure; on the left is a group of dignitaries and soldiers. A landscape, in which the towers of a distant city appear, closes the scene. Underneath the left arm of the cross appears the legend, Vere Filius Dei erat iste, in Roman characters of the epoch, which ceased to be used after the time when the painting in oil commenced. The forms in the CHRIST are somewhat meagre, but the anatomy is remarkably correct and particular. The expression in the faces of the several figures is marked. Modern art rarely shows us finer expression. The picture is slightly but admirably restored in the left arm of the cross, and a portion of the legend. It is of unquestionable authenticity and the extremest rarity.

When purchased by the donor, its beauties were hidden beneath the accumulated blackness of ages; otherwise a private American fortune would have failed to obtain it, as the Director of the National Academy of Brussels, partly suspecting its value, was a competitor for its possession. | B-158. | St. Catherine. (38½×28½.) Peter Paul Rubens.There are but six pictures of this quality of color by RUBENS, known to the donor. Three are in the Louvre, one is over the painter's tomb, one is the famous Chapeau de Paille , and the other is before us. It was brought from a church in the neighborhood of Brussels, by NIEUWENHUYSEN, the elder, and sold to the Count Perregeau.( Bryan Collection. )  |          |
| B-159. | Christ bearing the Cross. (59×24½.)Peter Paul Rubens.This picture is especially valuable for historical considerations, as being the only one which RUBENS is known to have painted on cedar panel. It formed one compartment of a triptique in the Cathedral of Antwerp. The centre compartment represented the Flagellation of Christ.The donor has the authority of Mr. HERIS for the authenticity of this picture, and the locality from which it was stolen.( Bryan Collection. ) |          |

| B-161. | Hercules strangling the Nemean Lion.(80×67.)  | Peter Paul Rubens.           |
|        | Several persons, whose opinions the donor highly respects, have denied the authenticity of this picture; but he thinks that, on a careful examination, its wonderful energy and muscular movement can be attributed to no other hand, no other head, than that of RUBENS. It is the Belvidere Torso—that only acknowledged Master of MICHAEL ANGELO—put into action, and was doubtless painted in Italy. It is known that RUBENS attempted to draw the lion from nature, when he was irritated by his keeper. He made but a hasty sketch.( Bryan Collection. ) |                                     |

The following described Pictures were STOLEN from the BRYAN COLLECTION before it was received by the Society.

Cupid discharging an Arrow. In the style of Correggio.

Cupid after the discharge of the Arrow—with finger raised constraining silence.
In the style of Correggio.

Adoration of the Magi. Leonard Bramer.

The Virgin, with the infant Christ and Joseph, sits in front of a ruined building. Around them the Magi are grouped in adoration. The distribution of the light in this little picture is truly grand, and the color is rich and harmonious. The influence of Rembrandt is apparent in every touch.

Vision of St. Louis. Anthony Van Dyck.

The sainted King starts from a canopied couch to gaze upon the apparition of Pope GREGORY IV., who appears before him, cloud-borne, and surrounded by angels. In the background is a sentinel. This little picture is noble in style and harmonious in color. The action of the figures is remarkably free and vigorous.

A Lace-Worker. Peter De Hooghe.

A young woman sits by an open window, with her hands resting upon the cushion on which is her work. The light falls in a broad mass upon one side of her face and figure, while the other is in the half-shadow of reflected light. This little sketch, so unobtrusive in subject and treatment, will impress the close observer with a sense of great power and thorough knowledge—knowledge which is content to know without seeming learned.

Miniature Portrait. Balthazar Denner.

An old man, wearing a cap, and a breastplate over a rich doublet. This head is painted with an elaborateness of detail worthy of Gerard Douw, while at the same time it is modelled with a free and learned hand.

LOUIS DURR

Louis Durr was born in Carlsruhe, Germany, in 1821, and died in New York City, March 31, 1880. His father was the Treasurer of the Duke of Baden-Baden, and was a watch-maker by trade, as well as a dealer in works of art.

Mr. Durr graduated from the Lyceum in his native city, and after visiting Geneva and Paris, came to this country with his brother in 1848 and for a time was connected with Balbach's gold smelting works in Newark, N. J. In 1853-54 he was established at 111 Nassau Street, this city, as a refiner of gold and silver. In 1856 he removed to 51 Ann Street and the following year to 53 Ann Street, where he carried on his business as an assayer and refiner for many years with his brother.

He accumulated a fortune and spent all his spare time studying and collecting works of art. He lived at No. 30 East 4th Street, where he kept his paintings.

He was a member of the Liederkrantz Club, then near his home, and became a member of this Society in 1873.

By will Mr. Durr directed that the most meritorious works of art were to be selected from his gallery of paintings and placed by his executors in some public art gallery, to be known as the "Durr Gallery of Paintings," the residue of his paintings to be sold and the proceeds invested for the purchase of suitable additions for the "Durr Gallery of Paintings."

In 1880 the executors of his estate under the terms of his will offered the collection of paintings to The New York Historical Society, and in 1882 they were transferred to the Society, together with the proceeds of the above-mentioned sale, which the Society designated the "Durr Gallery Fund" and from which the Gallery is added to.

17. BUST OF LOUIS DURR. IN BRONZE.

His tribe has disappeared, he is left alone, the solitary offshoot of a mighty race; already the axe of the backwoodsman disturbs his last hours; civilization, and art, and agriculture—all mysteries to him incomprehensible—have desecrated his home, and the dark shadows of the past gather him into their bosom!"—London Art Journal. Purchased from the family of the Artist, and presented by Frederic de Peyster, President of the Society, April 6, 1875. |                                 |

74.	Ruth. In marble.	Henry K. Brown.

"The artist has chosen the moment in which Ruth is addressed by Boaz as she stands among the gleaners. He quoted the lines of Keats in the song of the Nightingale—

'Perchance the self-same song hath found a path
To the sad heart of Ruth, when, sick for home,
She stood in tears amid the alien corn.'

She is not in tears; but her aspect is that of one who listens in sadness; her eyes are cast down, and her thoughts are of the home of her youth in the land of Moab. Over her left arm hangs a handful of the ears of wheat which she has gathered from the ground, and her right rests on the drapery about her bosom. Nothing can be more graceful than her attitude, or more expressive of melancholy sweetness and modesty than her physiognomy."—Extract of a letter by Mr. W. C. Bryant, dated Rome, 1845.

This statue was purchased by Miss Hicks, of New York, and presented to the New York Gallery of Fine Arts.

75. Group of a Boy and Dog; or, Chi Vinci, mangia. In marble. Henry K. Brown.

This playful group was presented to the New York Gallery, by C. M. Leupp, Esq. The boy has left his bowl of milk upon the floor, and the dog is endeavoring to take advantage of his negligence, by appropriating the contents to himself, against which the boy stoutly protests. They are so equally matched in strength, that the struggle is of doubtful issue, and therefore the artist calls it, "Chi vinci, mangia," or, who wins, eats.

(New York Gallery of Fine Arts, 1858.)

76. Bacchus. In marble.

Presented by Mrs. Howard Townsend Martin, March 13, 1909.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF ARTISTS

---

ANTONY SAMUEL ADAM-SALOMON (1818-1881).

French sculptor, among whose works may be mentioned the busts of Rossini, Marie Antoinette and the Tomb of the Duke of Padua.

WILLIAM VAN AELST (1620-1679).

Born at Delft; died at Amsterdam. Son of a notary. He was instructed in painting by his uncle, Evert van Aelst, whose style and subjects he adopted, though he greatly excelled him.

FRANCESCO ALBANO (1578-1660).

Born and died at Bologna. Son of Agostino Albano, a silk merchant. He was placed under the tuition of Denis Calvart. There he met Guido Reni and with him entered the School of Lodovico Caracci. He went to Rome, where his genius gained his reputation.

ANTONIO ALLEGRI (DA CORREGGIO) (1494-1534).

An Italian painter, born and died at Correggio, Italy. He was the son of Pellegrino Allegri, a merchant. He learned the rudiments from his uncle, Lorenzo Allegri, and followed the style of Montegna.

EZRA AMES

was a coach painter of Albany, who turned his attention to portraiture and gained distinction in 1812 at the Pennsylvania Academy by exhibiting his portrait of Gov. George Clinton.

ALEXANDER ANDERSON (1775-1870).

Born in New York City and died in Jersey City, N. J. He studied medicine at Columbia University and graduated in 1796, but was essentially a wood engraver and later devoted himself entirely to that art.

JACOBUS VAN ARTOIS (1613-1684).

Born at Brussels. He was a celebrated Flemish landscape painter, and studied under John Mertens. His works are often decorated with excellent figures by David Teniers, which renders them much more valuable.

JAN ASSELYN (1610-1660).

Born at Diepen and died at Antwerp. A Flemish landscape painter who studied under Esaias Vandervelde and went to Italy, where he remained several years.

JOHN JAMES AUDUBON (1780-1851).

Born near New Orleans, La.; died near New York City. His great love of nature led him to make the drawings of the birds, for which he is famous. He neglected business to spend his time in excursions through the woods, gathering specimens and making drawings of birds. He travelled extensively, making several voyages to England, finally settling, 1840, in New York City at what was known as Audubon Park on the Hudson, and was buried in Trinity Cemetery, adjoining his property.

HENDRIK VAN AVERCAMP (1590- ).

Born at Kampen; lived and died there. Surnamed Stomme van Campen. He executed many pictures, chiefly marine views and landscapes ornamented with cattle.

JOHN DE BAAN (1633-1702).

Born at Haerlem; died at The Hague. A Dutch portrait painter who, after receiving some instructions from an uncle named Piemans, was sent to Amsterdam to study under Jacob de Backer.

LUDOLF BACKHUYSEN (1631-1708).

Born at Embden. A German painter, pupil of Albert van Everdingen and Henry Dubbels. He painted mostly marine subjects.

GEORGE A. BAKER (1821-1880).

A native of New York; is highly esteemed for his portraiture of women and children. He was the pupil of his father, a miniature painter.

THOMAS BALL (1819-1911).

Sculptor; born in Charlestown, Mass. Died at Montclair, N. J. He was a singer and portrait painter and in 1852 he took up modelling and executed a number of busts and statues, having studied in Europe several years.

GIORGIO BARBARELLI (1477-1510).

Born at Castelfranco, near Treviso. An Italian portrait painter called Giorgione. Studied in the school of Giovanni Bellini, at Venice, where Titian became his fellow student.

FRA BARTOLOMEO (BACCIO DELLA PORTA) (1475-1517).

Born and died at Savignano, near Florence. Called also Il Frate, and Fra Bartolomeo di San Marco. While very young he became the disciple of Cosimo Rosselli, and acquired the name of Baccio della Porta, from his residence near the gate of St. Peter.

BASSANO (JACOPO DA PONTE) (1510-1592).

Born at Bassano, commonly called Il Bassano. He was the son of Francesco da Ponte, called also the Elder Bassano. He received his first instruction from his father, and then at Venice under Bonifazio Veneziano.

GERARD VAN BATTEM.

A Dutch landscape painter, who flourished about 1650 and died at Amsterdam in 1690. His subjects are mountainous landscapes, with travellers or banditti, and hunting pieces.

POMPEO BATTONI (1708-1787).

Born at Lucca; died at Rome. An Italian painter, son of a goldsmith. He was sent to Rome, where he studied under Sebastian Conca, and Agostino Masucci. He was more employed in portraits than historical works.

JAN BEERSTRAATEN (1622–1687).

Dutch painter, born and died at Amsterdam. He painted landscapes.

CORNELIUS BEGA (1620–1664).

Born at Haerlem. He studied under Adrian Ostade, and became the ablest painter of his school. His pictures, like those of Ostade, represent Dutch peasants regaling and amusing themselves, and the interiors of Dutch cottages.

JOSEPH L. H. BELLANGÉ (1800–1866).

French painter, born and died at Paris. He was influenced by the wars of the 1st Napoleon and painted mostly military scenes.

THEODORE VAN BERGEN (1645–1689).

Born at Haerlem. A Dutch painter of landscapes and cattle. Studied under Adrian Vandevelde and was his ablest scholar.

NICHOLAS BERGHEM (1620–1683).

Born at Haerlem. A Dutch painter, the son of Peter Class van Haerlem. It is difficult to say how the name Berghem or Berchem originated. He studied first under his father and subsequently under John van Goyen and also John Baptist Weeninix.

PIETRO BERRETINI (1596–1669).

Born at Cortona; died at Rome. Called Da Cortona and was a Florentine painter and architect. He studied under Baccio Ciarpi, but gained more advantage from the study of the works of Raffaele and Caravaggio.

ALBERT BIERSTADT (1830–1902.)

Born in Düsseldorf, Germany, and in 1831 came with his parents to New Bedford, Mass. In 1853 he returned to Düsseldorf and studied painting there and in Rome. In 1857 he returned to the United States and made an extended tour in the West, especially Colorado and California. He died in New York City.

THOMAS BIRCH (1787-1851).

Born in London, England, the son of William Birch. Was brought to this country in 1794 when seven years of age. His father was his instructor. He lived and died in Philadelphia and was a landscape and marine painter.

ABRAHAM BLOEMAERT (1564-1658).

Born at Gorcum. He was a Dutch historical and landscape painter and engraver, who studied under Joseph de Beer.

JOHANNES FRANCIS VAN BLOEMEN (1662-1740).

Born at Antwerp; died at Rome. A Flemish landscape painter, who went to Italy when very young and remained there all his life. Studied under Goubau and was called Orizonti.

PETRUS VAN BLOEMEN (1657-1719.)

Born at Antwerp. He visited Rome for improvement, where the Flemings called him Standard, from his painting occasionally charges of cavalry. He returned to Antwerp, and in 1699 was made director of the Academy.

JAMES BOGLE (1817-1873).

Born in Georgetown, S. C.; died in Brooklyn, N. Y. Came to New York 1836, and entered the studio of Professor Morse. He confined himself to portrait painting.

FERDINAND BOL (1611-1681).

Born at Dort. A Dutch historical and portrait painter and engraver. His family removed to Amsterdam where he studied under Rembrandt, whose style he imitated.

JOSEPH BONOMI (1796-1878).

Born at Rome and died at London. An English sculptor and draftsman, the son of Giuseppe Bonomi.

JOHN AND ANDREW BOTH.

These Dutch painters were brothers. They were natives of Utrecht, John, the elder, being born about 1610 and died after 1662. Andrew died 1645. They learned the elements of design from their father, who was a painter on glass, but afterwards studied under A. Bloemaert.

SANDRO OR ALESSANDRO BOTTICELLI (1447-1510).

A Florentine painter and engraver. He studied under Filippo Lippi and subsequently visited Rome, where he executed several important works for Sixtus IV.

FRANÇOIS BOUCHER (1703-1770).
